

About Afaxys Group Services

Every year, more than 31 million Americans rely on community and public health centers to get essential care. Yet, in today's changing and uncertain healthcare environment, many of these providers struggle to serve these patients because they can't cost-effectively access the products they need. Afaxys Group Services (AGS) is a strategic sourcing subdivision of Afaxys, LLC that works to solve this problem by finding the needed goods and negotiating favorable pricing across a broad base of products and services uses in community and public health centers. AGS does this through its Group Purchasing Organization (GPO) and emapp[®], a simple, streamlined, cloud-based marketplace and purchasing portal.

What is a GPO?

A group purchasing organization uses volume-based discounts to save providers money on the products and services needed to run their health centers. By combining the purchasing power of many smaller health centers, Afaxys GPO can secure discounts that would otherwise be reserved for larger healthcare systems.
